

Work with responsible supply partners

A responsible paper supplier will be open about the environmental credentials and the provenance of its products and will share your commitment to sustainability in helping you make the right choices.

- Ask your supplier for their environmental policies and evidence to support any claims they make.
- If you are choosing an FSC or PEFC certified product, make sure the supplier has Chain of Custody certification.
- Tell your supplier what environmental, technical and budgetary requirements you have for paper. They should be able to provide the advice, information and product options to satisfy your needs.
